Pre-Assignment 6. Simply send me an email with your article (author, title, journal, etc., cited correctly). Due: Feb. 23.

Assignment 6. The Thesis Statement. Read any article on your list generated for Assignment 5, cite in correctly, copy the sentence you think most fully covers the thesis of the article, and provide a full footnote (should look different than your bibliography reference at the beginning).

Then write one paragraph in which you: outline the subject, thesis, and subtheses (find three) of the article in your own words, and note one hypothesis on this subject (perhaps as suggested by your viewing of Elizabeth or reading of general sources) which the author ought to have considered, but did not. Due: Feb. 24, but ok 26 by class.
